Photographs by John Paul Caponigro

Sonata in Blue III 1999

Antarctica LVI 2007

In this selection of John Paul Caponigro images we find an atmosphere that hovers above the ordinary. The creator is a digital master who works as an alchemist, creating visual gold from common elements. For the task, he chooses the simplest of ingredients: air, water, and fire. Caponigro has traveled the world for raw materials, but one might wonder if a cold Maine winter night, with a full moon, is all the inspiration he needs.
